AQAR, 2024-25

Part B, Criteria 7, Point No. 7.2.1

7.2.1 Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual.

Best Practice:1

Title of Practice: Providing Assistance (Financial and Books) to the needy students

1. Objectives of the Practice:

Education is the single most important factor which can greatly enhance quality of life of a student and enhance his/her outlook and vision towards the different aspects of life.

But there are few unfortunate ones who have the desire to excel and educate themselves but are financially incapable of doing so. With the help of this practice we aim to provide education to the less fortunate ones and illuminate their future with hope and knowledge. Various departments have also set up Book Banks whereby free books are provided to the students who are financially weak.

2. The Context:

At the time of admission and in our classrooms we come across such students who are willing to obtain higher education but are restricted by their poor financial condition. The challenge is to arrange financial assistance through various NGOs, individuals and associations so that maximum number of students can be benefitted. Right to Education act has made great impact and the access to education has increased. Free education in government schools has been a boon for many students, But dreams of many are not fulfilled due to the lack of finances and they might be forced to abandon their educational desires. The scheme has been designed and is implemented in such a way that maximum number of students can take advantage of it. Book banks are set up to further help the students who are not financially sound.

3. The Practice:

The institution has been approached by several humanitarian and philanthropist associations and individuals who are willing to provide financial assistance to needy students in form of fees or scholarships.

The practice is unique in itself as it is not being done in response to any instructions and guidelines issued by government. But it is an impromptu effort by the institution to spread the light of knowledge far and wide and into the darkest corners.

The institution has been providing financial help to students with the help of many organizations, individuals and under government schemes.

Book banks are established in different departments of college to help the needy students. Under this program, books are issued from the book bank to the needy students for the whole semester. After exams they return the books and they are issued books for the new semesters.

These book banks are maintained from extra complimentary copies received by teachers, books donated by old students etc.

The major constraint faced in providing financial assistance to students is to arrange enough finances to help all the students completely.

Book bank faces a few issues like some of the pass out students may not return books or the books may be insufficient for the number of students actually needing the books.

(Providing Financial Assistance to the students)

The efforts made by institution and their tangible results can be seen in this table provided. These numbers prove that a large number of students benefitted from these efforts and got admission in different courses.

5. Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Conceptualization and implementing any noble deed is always challenging with several hiccups and problems. The major problem faced was to find enough donors for providing financial assistance to maximum number of students. While implementing the assistance at college level, the students are interviewed to assess their financial status and to verify their claims.

Book bank faces problems like shortage, non return of books by students and the books progressively becoming poor in condition due to usage over the years.

Best Practice:2

Title of the Practice: Participation in Extracurricular Activities

1. Objectives of Practice:

The intended outcome of this practice is to ensure all round development of the students. Education is not just the knowledge of books but it also lies in knowing and testing our capabilities in different fields like sports, cultural activities etc.

2. The Context:

Some people are of the view that extracurricular activities are a waste of time and they take us away from books hence will lead to poor performance in exams. In fact, active and well performing students are good at extracurricular activities as well as studies too. The students can learn to balance their studies with other activities this is an important skill which would be quite useful in their work years too.

The college has always encouraged students to hone their skills in creative arts, stage performance, debates, sports etc by organizing various events for them.

3. The Practice

A sizeable number of our students participated in Zonal and Inter Zonal Youth and Heritage Festivals of Panjab University and brought laurels to the institution by winning prizes in their respective fields of participation.

The institution has a strong tradition of enthusiastic participation and superlative performances. Students are provided constant guidance and professional coaching to get the best results. Students getting positions in youth festivals get benefit during admissions for higher studies in university. It can be said that results speak for themselves.

In the field of sports also, the achievements of our students are worth mentioning. A good number of students made the college proud by winning prizes in their respective participation categories.

4. Evidence of Success

As the saying goes action speaks louder than words. Some of the extracurricular activities of our students are summarized below;

Problems encountered and Resources required

Identifying and isolating the best talent from amongst a large pool of students is a difficult task. Apart from this, the best of the talent requires nurturing and sharpening the skills with the intervention of specialized coaching and guidance. Talented coaches are difficult to come by and also require monetary investment. The participating students must also be well nourished hence their nutritional requirements are also taken care of by the institution. It is thus clear that these are not only the accomplishments of students but an outcome of intensive funding and backing by the college also.
